

Local Policing Summary Waltham Forest

Introductory message from Boris Johnson Mayor of London and Chair of the MPA

I promised Londoners that I would work tirelessly to make their city and their local communities safer. This is what I have set about doing - working with the police to tackle knife crime, putting more police on the transport network, and working to boost the number of special constables.

Crime is now at an all-time low, but there is still much more to be done. Working with the Commissioner we will go further - addressing the complex long-term causes of youth crime, ending violence against women, and giving Londoners back confidence in their day-to-day safety.

It is important that Londoners can know how well their local police service is performing and what the priorities are in the coming year. This annual local police summary sets this out, providing you with information about policing in your borough. I hope it will help to improve your confidence in the police, show you the activity that is taking place, and help to reduce the fear of crime.

Crime is at a ten year low in London

Primarily, the MPA exists to

- hold the Commissioner rigorously to account for improving the operational performance of the MPS
- transform community engagement to help Londoners secure more responsive policing
- work with the MPS to achieve cultural change throughout the service so that everyone in London can gain and retain confidence in policing
- drive the MPS to make the most effective, efficient and cost conscious use of all its resources

Metropolitan Police Authority

The MPA sets and monitors the police budget, annual priorities and targets for the police and we hold them to account for their performance against these.

Policing London Business Plan 2009/12

The three year business plan sets out how the MPS will deliver against the policing priorities of government, the Mayor of London and the people who live and work in London. Targets are set and monitored throughout the year to ensure the MPS continues to reduce crime and increase public safety.

The strategic priorities in the plan are to:

- make our service more accessible and improve people's experience of their contact with us, especially victims and witnesses
- make our neighbourhoods safer through local and city-wide problem solving and partnership working to reduce crime, ASB and road casualties
- disrupt more criminal networks and reduce the harm caused by drugs
- reduce serious violence and protect young people
- enhance our counter terrorism capability and capacity
- plan for and effectively police major events in London and prepare for the 2012 Olympics
- lead and manage our Service to ensure the most efficient, effective and economic use of all the resources entrusted to us

Looking back on 2008/09

Summary performance achievements

The MPS has achieved a number of successes against the objectives and targets set for 2008/09. The majority of the priorities and targets set by the MPA were met, particularly in terms of tackling serious violence, reducing serious acquisitive crime and disrupting criminal networks.

Some of the performance achievements between April 2008 and March 2009:

- the MPS achieved a reduction in gun crime of 25.8% or 753 fewer crimes. This exceeded the 3% reduction target;
- the MPS achieved a reduction in youth violence of 9.8% or 2209 fewer victims. This exceeded the 6% reduction target.
- the MPS achieved a reduction in serious acquisitive crime (residential burglary, robbery and motor vehicle crime) of 7.7% or 17,000 fewer crimes. This exceeded the 4% reduction target.

However, some targets were not met, most notably:

- public satisfaction across the MPS was 77.7% against a 78.9% target;
- the gap between the satisfaction of White victims (78.6%) and Black and Minority Ethnic victims (74.0%) was 4.7 percentage points. This missed the target of a 3.8 percentage point gap.

Waltham Forest: local information

Message from Borough Commander Mark Benbow

"Over the past year, our successes include reductions in personal robbery, theft of motor vehicles, gun crime, knife crime and youth violence however; there has been an increase in burglary and homicide offences. Whilst the achievements last year were significant, we recognize and embrace the challenges ahead of us and I am confident that we are heading in the right direction. We have implemented a number of measures to help tackle the rises in burglary and homicide. There are still challenges ahead, and it is the efforts from all of us, my officers and staff, our partners and you our public, that will help us to improve and make our community safer for all of the people within it.

"We aim to keep you updated of news and appeals via our internet site www.met.police.uk/walthamforest We are also in the process of recruiting individuals from our community to become part of our neighbourhood link scheme. These individuals will be provided with monthly updates about what their local team has been up to as well as information about local priorities."

Priorities for 2009/10

- 4.8% reduction in serious acquisitive crime
- 4.0% reduction in most serious violence, 4.0% reduction in serious youth violence
- 5.0% reduction in gun crime, 5.2% reduction in knife crime
- challenging targets for sanction detection rates across specific crime types

Waltham Forest: local police initiatives

Waltham Forest police delivers diversionary activities to over 400 young people across the borough, each week, including Met Track. Met Track is a resounding success in Waltham Forest; in fact it is recognised as the best in the Met. Many of the youths attending are currently those referred through learning support units at schools, and are mainly those with behaviour and attendance issues. The programme of activities has helped to divert young people away from crime. Due to its success, we have secured additional funding for kit/equipment and additional coaches so that it can continue.

Met Track is held on Monday evenings at Walthamstow Pool and Track, 170 Chingford Road, Walthamstow, E17 5AA. If you want to join in the fun, contact PC Loraine Verghese on 020 8721 5088.

Have your say on policing in London

Public consultation plays an important part in setting the policing priorities for London.

The MPA is considering the priorities for 2011/12 and would like to know what you think the police in London should be focusing on.

Have your say on policing in London by taking part in this year's consultation questionnaire - log on to the MPA website to complete an online questionnaire or call 020 7202 0063 to leave your contact details and we will post you a paper copy.

Partnership working: CPEGs

Help us to understand the community's views on policing in your area

The MPA has a statutory duty to consult and engage with the communities of London and to give a voice to local people on policing priorities, concerns and the future direction of the MPS. To this end Community Police Engagement Groups (CPEGs) exist in each of the 32 London boroughs (in some boroughs these groups are known as Community Safety Boards (CSBs) or Community Police Consultative Groups (CPCGs)). The primary aims of the CPEGs are to consult with local police, Safer Neighbourhoods Panels, the MPA and key stakeholders in Crime and Disorder Reduction Partnerships about strategic policing. This can include consultation on developing the annual policing plan, implementation of Neighbourhood Policing, and crime and disorder reduction.

CPEGs are intended to be representative of the local population, especially those groups that interact with the police in disproportionate numbers. Their activities include active community engagement in neighbourhoods and with local groups.

If you would like to get involved in your local CPEG you can find out more information at www.mpa.gov.uk/partnerships

Partnership working: Stop and Search

Stop and Search Community Monitoring Network

Stop and Search measures are useful in the fight against crime, but they are also controversial powers for many people. The MPA supports Stop and Search Monitoring Groups in all 32 boroughs and facilitates a London wide Community Monitoring Network as a means of building and sustaining trust and confidence in the appropriate exercise of Stop and Search powers.

The work of these groups is crucial and they rely on the input and involvement of volunteers.

If you would like to get involved in a local or pan-London group to monitor and influence the way Stop and Search is used in London, please call 020 7202 0233 or email stopandsearch@mpa.gov.uk for more information.

Partnership working: ICVs

Independent Custody Visitors (ICVs) are members of the local community appointed to make sure that the welfare of people detained in police stations is maintained. They call at police stations unannounced, speak to detainees and write short reports about their visit. Their recommendations can require the police to make improvements in this area. ICVs play a valuable role in maintaining public confidence in this important aspect of policing. They volunteer their time with others as part of a local panel and help the MPA, which oversees custody visiting in London, to make sure that detainees are treated appropriately and that their rights are respected.

As part of its commitment to community engagement, the MPA is keen to ensure that Londoners are aware of the existence of the ICV Scheme. In 2008/09 a range of awareness raising activities took place including information evenings for the general public, redevelopment of the ICV web pages to provide broader information on the scheme, including visual images and the airing of a specially commissioned radio ad on Choice FM. Further developments, including the use of social networking, are planned for 2009.

ICVs must be aged 18 or over. If you would like to find out more about how you can get involved, please visit the MPA website or call free phone 0808 100 1036.
